When You Visit Our Web Sites

You can always visit our web sites without revealing who you are or providing any personal information. When you visit our web sites, we do collect usage information, but it is anonymous and is not linked to you as an individual. As discussed below, one way in which we collect such usage information is through the use of cookie technology. We use this information to improve our site content and ease of use, learning among other things how our web sites are navigated, the number of visitors arriving at specific pages, the length and frequency of stays at our site and the Internet Protocol address ("IP Address") from which a visitor connects to our web sites. Of course, when you create a user profile on hyatt.com or request a transaction on our web sites, personal information gathered on our web sites is no longer anonymous, all as detailed in the policy.

Web Host

Hyatt.com is hosted by AT&T Corp. ("AT&T") on servers located in Lisle, Illinois and managed by Critical Mass ("Critical Mass") of Calgary, Alberta, for the benefit of all Hyatt Hotels & Resorts. AT&T also hosts, and Critical Mass also manages, the individual web sites for all Hyatt Hotels & Resorts located in the United States, Canada and the Caribbean, Hyattvacationclub.com and the individual web sites for all Hyatt Vacation Club Resorts worldwide. Individual web sites for Hyatt Hotels & Resorts located outside the United States, Canada and the Caribbean are hosted by UUNET ("UUNET") on servers located in New York, New York, and managed by OpenWorld Ltd. of Bath, England ("OpenWorld").

IP Address

An IP Address is a number automatically assigned to a user's computer each time the user browses the Internet. When you visit our web sites, the applicable server used by our Web Hosts make a record of your IP Address, together with the date and time of your visit, the type of Internet browser you use and the URL of any other web site that referred you to our web sites. The same is true when you are transferred from our web sites to other web sites in the manner described elsewhere in this statement. We use that information in order to evaluate and improve the design and functionality of our websites.

Cookies

Cookies are sets of data that a web site transmits to a user's computer, enabling web sites to recognize your computer and to "remember" your entries as you move from page to page, or even when you revisit the site from time to time using the same computer. Cookies are not programs that will corrupt or damage your computer or computer files.

Each time you visit our web sites, we use "persistent" cookies that remain on your computer's hard drive after you leave our web sites so we can track how users navigate through the sites and to track any referring web site that may have linked you to a page on our web sites. This tracking allows us to evaluate and improve the functionality of our web sites. In addition, persistent cookies are used to remember you, including the interests and preferences you provide as part of your user profile, and to customize your hyatt.com experience accordingly, should you check the "remember me" box while creating your user profile as detailed below.

When you choose to transact business on our web sites, "session" cookies are used to allow our systems and the systems of our service providers to temporarily remember information you provide while you are in the process of completing the transaction. Your session cookies are deleted as soon as you close your browser. For example, while you are in the process of making a reservation online, our web sites use session cookies to temporarily remember your travel dates and preferences. As another example, to make your online job application process more convenient, Recruitsoft uses session cookies to temporarily remember the data you input while in the process of applying for a job online.

Third-Party Cookies

We contract with third parties to serve ads on our behalf across the Internet and sometimes on this site. They will collect anonymous information about your visits to our Web site, and your interaction with our products and services. They may also use information about your visits to this and other Web sites to target advertisements for goods and services. These targeted advertisements may appear on our site or on other sites that you visit. The anonymous information is collected through the use of a pixel tag, which is industry standard technology used by most major web sites. No personally identifiable information is collected in this process.

If you do not want to accept cookies, you can block them by adjusting the settings on your Internet browser. If you do so, however, you won't be able to benefit from the convenience afforded through the use of cookies and you will not be able to use all of the features of our web sites, including the customization features associated with creating a user profile.

When You Create a User Profile

Visitors to hyatt.com can create a user profile to, among other things, facilitate the online transactions available on our web sites and customize our web sites each time you return according to the travel and leisure interests you indicate. If you choose to share this personal information with us, we may also use it to record your travel preferences in reservations you may make, to tailor your experience at our web sites and your stays at Hyatt Hotels & Resorts to your interests and to make more appropriate travel recommendations to you. For example, personal information contained in a user profile may be used to pre-populate various required or requested information fields needed to process an online transaction without the need for you to enter the information each time you use our web sites. Also, if you indicate a preference for a certain type of vacation experience, such as a spa or golf vacation, special spa or golf packages may be highlighted when you return to our web sites. You may still use our web sites to search for and purchase services even if you choose not to create a user profile.

If you elect to create a user profile, you will be asked to furnish your name, an e-mail address that will serve as your user name and a password to use each time you log-in. You will also be asked to provide contact information, including your address, telephone and fax numbers. You will be asked to identify your interests (e.g. special rates, spa or golf packages). If you are a member of Hyatt Gold Passport, Hyatt's frequent traveler program, you may log-in using your Gold Passport Number and PIN number and personal information contained in your Gold Passport profile will be used to pre-populate corresponding information fields of your hyatt.com user profile. If you are a meeting planner, you will be asked to provide your company name and title. If you are a travel professional, you will be asked to provide your IATA number.

When we create a user profile at your request, we may add your session data to your user profile. We may also use the information you provide or update in your user profile to populate or update other databases maintained by us and our service providers, as applicable. By creating a user profile, you are agreeing that we may use the personal information you provide for these purposes.

Opt-In for E-mail Communications

As part of the user profile creation process on Hyatt.com, you will be offered the opportunity to receive via e-mail news, special offers, and promotions regarding products and services offered by us, the Hyatt family of companies and our travel partners. For example, if you choose to receive e-mail communications from us, among other things, you will receive "Hyatt Extras", a semimonthly e-mail newsletter containing destination information, special rates and other Hyatt news. If you choose to receive e-mail communications from us, you may also receive e-mail communications from the Hyatt family of companies. We hope you will find these items interesting and informative. In fact, we may use your travel preferences and experiences to share customized advertisements, updates and promotions that include our recommendations to you about travel specials. Nonetheless, at the time you create your user profile, you will let us know if you want us to receive any such information by checking the applicable boxes. When you link from hyatt.com to the home page of a specific Hyatt Hotel or Resort or Hyatt Vacation Club Resort web site, we may also ask you if you want to receive any such news, special offers, and promotions directly from that hotel or resort in the same fashion. Any such e-mail communications from us may be effected by service providers acting on our behalf in accordance with this policy.

Of course, if you initially elect to receive these e-mail communications but later change your mind, you can visit our web sites and tell us that you would like to stop receiving promotional communications from us and/or a specific Hyatt Hotel or Resort or Hyatt Vacation Club Resort, and/or our travel partners. Further, each time you receive such an e-mail communication, you may elect to cancel your subscription for future e-mail communications from the sender by clicking on an e-mail link that will appear at the bottom of each e-mail message.

As part of the user profile creation process of Hyatt.com, you will also be asked to check a box if you wish to participate in occasional online opinion surveys conducted by us or one of our service providers. Like other e-mail communications, you may change your mind and tell us you no longer wish to participate in occasional online opinion surveys by updating your user profile accordingly.

Updating or Removing Personal Information from your User Profile

You can view, update or remove any personal information forming a part of your user profile at any time by accessing your user profile while online at hyatt.com or by e-mailing us at concierge@hyatt.com. Any such updates shall constitute personal information provided to us for use in accordance with this policy. If you do elect to remove your user profile from Hyatt.com, you will no longer receive any of the customized benefits described above. We will, however, have the right to use any personal information previously provided by you on our web sites for record keeping and quality assurance purposes.

Making a Hotel Reservation

If you elect to make a room reservation through our web sites and do not have an established user profile, you will need to furnish your name, telephone number, billing address and credit card type, number and expiration date, in addition to the dates of your stay, the number of rooms you will require and the number of adults and children in your party. In order to permit us to serve you better, you will also be asked to furnish the following additional information, as applicable, although it is not required in order for you to obtain a reservation: your e-mail address; your Gold Passport Membership Number; your Group/Corporate Number (if we have assigned an identification code to your group, company or organization); your flight arrival details; whether you qualify for a special rate as a Senior Citizen, employee of the U.S. Government or member of the American Automobile Association; and whether you have any special requests (which you can indicate by either ticking one of the pre-selected choices found in the online form or by entering a note in the Comments field). If you are a travel agent making a reservation on behalf of a client, you will also be asked to provide your Travel Agent I.D. (i.e., your ARC/IATA/TIDS number). If you have an established user profile on either hyatt.com or Goldpassport.com, you may use the information contained in your user profile to pre-populate any corresponding required or requested information fields.

Once you have completed and submitted the online reservation form, the information included in the form is then automatically sent to SPIRIT (the Hyatt Central Reservations System that is operated for the benefit of all Hyatt Hotels & Resorts by CSC Outsourcing, Inc. ("CSCO"), a subsidiary of Computer Sciences Corporation, from its offices in Oak Brook Terrace, Illinois) and to the Hyatt Hotel or Resort where you will be staying. If you submit an online reservation for a Hyatt Vacation Club Resort, we will also share the information included in the form with the HVC Parties, including the Hyatt Vacation Club Resort where you will be staying. If a guarantee or advance deposit is required in order to secure your reservation, the Hyatt Hotel or Resort where you will be staying (or, in the case of a Hyatt Vacation Club Resort, the HVC Parties) will then process your credit card for that purpose, gaining appropriate billing authorization from your credit card company. While online, you will be given a reservation confirmation number and if you so request while online, a confirmation of your reservation by e-mail. The information you furnish when making a reservation will be used to fulfill your reservation and may be used as otherwise disclosed in this policy.

Purchasing a Gift Certificate

If you elect to purchase a gift certificate for stays at Hyatt Hotels & Resorts through our web sites, you will be linked to another web site maintained by Rapp Collins Worldwide ("Rapp Collins") of Dallas, Texas for the benefit of Hyatt Hotels & Resorts. Before proceeding with your purchase, we urge you to read the terms and conditions for all gift certificates.

To proceed, unless you have already purchased a gift certificate online, you will need to provide your name, billing address, home and daytime telephone number, e-mail address and credit card type, number and expiration date along with information concerning the type and amount of the gift certificate you wish to purchase and the message you wish to send to the recipient. The personal information required to fulfill your gift certificate purchase will be stored in a database maintained by Rapp Collins for record keeping purposes. If you want the gift certificate to be sent to an address other than your billing address, you will also be asked to provide the name, address and home and daytime telephone number of the recipient. The information that you furnish will then be used to fulfill your gift certificate purchase (inclusive of obtaining authorization/approval from your credit card company) and transmit the gift Certificate, and as may be otherwise disclosed in this policy.

If you have previously purchased a Gift Certificate online, by entering the e-mail address and password provided at the time of your first gift certificate purchase, the information contained in the Rapp Collins database regarding your prior transaction may be used to pre-populate any corresponding required or requested information fields. Before proceeding with the transaction, you may update any personal information by making changes to the applicable information fields. Alternatively, you can communicate any such updates by e-mail to concierge@hyatt.com or by calling Hyatt's Central Reservation Center in Omaha, Nebraska at 1-800-955-9655. Any such update shall constitute personal information provided to us for use in accordance with this policy. Please note, however, that information in the Rapp Collins database regarding prior gift certificate transactions will not be changed as a result of the update. Further, any such updates will not automatically update your hyatt.com user profile.

If you elect to make a gift certificate reservation while online from the Hyatt Gift Certificate web site, you will be returned to hyatt.com to complete the reservation process as described in the preceding section. In addition to the other information required to make a reservation while online, you will be required to furnish information regarding the gift certificate.

On certain individual hotel web sites for Hyatt Hotels & Resorts located outside of the United States, Canada and the Caribbean, you may have an option to send an e-Postcard. An e-

Postcard is a fun, easy way for you to electronically share images of a Hyatt Hotel or Resort with someone else.

If you elect to send an e-Postcard, you will be required to provide your name, your e-mail address, and your recipient's name and e-mail address, along with your brief text message. This information is stored on a database server hosted by OpenWorld in New York, which is mirrored to a second server also in New York. Backups are made to a third server located in Atlanta. As the information you provide in connection with an e-Postcard is not encrypted with SSL technology during transmission to the OpenWorld servers, you should exercise good judgment about the nature of the information you include in an e-Postcard.

The message you send will contain a unique URL that will point to where the e-Postcard may be located. The content on the URL, and the database that stores information about your e-Postcard, will be deleted after 7 days once the recipient has viewed it, or after 30 days if it has not been viewed by the recipient by then.

If you are submitting an online form relating to spa services, you will be given the opportunity to indicate the dates of your stay and to specify your question or request. For any other question, comment or request, you will also be asked to: identify the nature of your comments (by selecting from a pick list); provide your Gold Passport Number; if you are writing to comment on a particular stay, the name of the hotel where you stayed and the dates of your arrival and departure; and include any comments you may have in a free text field at the end of the form. If you would also like to give us feedback concerning a particular stay, you will be given the opportunity to complete an online feedback survey which gives you the opportunity to rate your overall stay, indicate whether you would recommend Hyatt Hotels & Resorts to a friend or colleague, indicate whether you had a problem during your stay, describe the nature of the problem (in a free text field at the end of the form) and to indicate whether the problem was handled by the hotel to your satisfaction.

The information that you include in any of the online forms described above will not be encrypted prior to transmission so you should exercise good judgment about the nature of the information that you include in the form (e.g., do not include things like your credit card number in the comments field). The information that you include in those online forms will be used in responding to your questions, comments and requests and as otherwise disclosed in this policy. Questions concerning this privacy policy should be sent to privacyombudsman@Hyatt.com.

Provided that you use a SSL enabled Internet browser like the most current versions of Microsoft Internet Explorer or Netscape Navigator, your transmissions of personal information to us through them online will be secure. You can verify whether the information you will be asked to provide on any particular page of this or any other web site will be transmitted using SSL encryption by confirming the presence of a "closed lock" (for users of Microsoft Internet Explorer) or a "solid key" (for users of Netscape Navigator) symbol on the bottom bar of your browser window. You can also verify that your personal information will be encrypted using SSL encryption by making sure that the prefix for the web address listed for that page has changed from "http" to "https". If you do not see the appropriate symbol and the "https" prefix, you should not assume that the personal information that you are being asked to provide will be encrypted prior to transmission. As disclosed elsewhere in the policy, information provided by a Meeting Planner in an RFP, e-Postcards and questions and comments sent by e-mail to concierge@hyatt.com are not encrypted prior to transmission.

Nevertheless, such security measures may not prevent all loss, misuse or alteration of personal information and we are not responsible for any damages or liabilities relating to any such security failures.
