GRAND HYATT DENVER'S PINNACLE CLUB PROVIDES ONE OF THE LARGEST VIEWS IN NORTH AMERICA

(Denver, CO –April, 2009) On a clear day, the views from the Grand Hyatt Denver's Pinnacle Club, located on the 38th and 37th floor of the tower at 555 Seventeenth Street adjoining the hotel, truly astound. Dr. Joseph J. Kerski, a geographer with the U.S. Geological Survey believes that visitors to the Pinnacle Club see from the mountains to the prairies for an estimated 7,500 square miles. An application is being made to the Guinness World Book of Records to have it declared as the greatest view event facility in North America.

The view from the Pinnacle Club conference and ballrooms spans 10,600 miles of snowcapped peaks and prairie, taking in 200 named mountains, including Pikes Peak more than one hundred miles away. Thirty-two (32) of them soar to 13,000 feet or more above sea level. The area that can be viewed is larger than Connecticut, Rhode Island and Delaware combined and is about equal to seeing every inch of Massachusetts – all at once.

"Points south of Cheyenne Mountain in Colorado Springs and north of Horsetooth Reservoir in Fort Collins are clearly visible," Kerski says. "Because we are at the edge of two large eco and physical regions – the Great Plains and the Rocky Mountains -- and because of our clearer air and skies, a person scanning the horizon from the Pinnacle Club can see further than someone at a comparable height in Washington, D.C. or Dallas.”

Originally a private enclave, the Pinnacle Club provides an intimate, historic ambiance as Colorado's premier event venue. Floor to ceiling windows bring the snow capped mountain vista into full view in the 17,000 square feet of meeting and banquet space that is comprised nine varying sized rooms, including two ballrooms. The Pinnacle Club is a recipient of the MPI Rocky Mountain Chapter Special Event Venue Award.
