PARK HYATT TOKYO OFFERS E-MOBILE PORTABLE WI-FI SERVICE Staying Guests Experience Constant Connectivity On The Go, Anywhere in Japan

Tokyo, Japan, 1 October 2011 - Park Hyatt Tokyo is now offering an E-Mobile portable Wi-Fi service allowing staying guests to enjoy connectivity at all times, anywhere in Japan. The pocket-size portable module which is smaller than a standard mobile phone, is compact enough to place in one's pocket for Wi-Fi access with an i-phone, i-pad, Blackberry and PC, on the move. In addition to around-the-clock Internet access, with the increasing trend in making international phone calls over Wi-Fi, this service will also be extremely useful for international guests when calling family, friends and business associates back home during one's stay in Tokyo.

According to General Manager, Philippe Roux-Dessarps, "In this day and age where Wi-Fi connectivity can make or break a business trip, or a leisure holiday, we are thrilled to be the first hotel to offer this service for all our guests. Hotspots are not as readily accessible in Japan as compared to other parts of the world such as the US, and this device frees guests from having to locate a nearby hotspot. You carry a hotspot at all times with this device."

The portable E-Mobile device is offered on a rental agreement service to staying guests on a daily rate basis.
