The name of Franciacorta, designating the land between Brescia and Lake Iseo, Lombardy appeared for the first time in 1277, in reference to the 'curtes francae', or "Short France" a tax- and duty-free trade area.

In 1961, the first bottle of Franciacorta was made by Guido Berlucchi winery. Franciacorta covers nowadays 200 km² and is home to over 100 wineries. A sparkling wine made using the traditional method i.e. the process used in the Champagne region of France to produce Champagne.

In the global ranking of the most appreciated Italian sparkling wines we can find Prosecco, Asti and Franciacorta, that are now challenging as equal prestigious Champagne.

“Drinking wine is easy and one of life's greatest pleasures. However, producing wine is often arduous and down-and-dirty work. In the case of Nino Negri, you can also describe winemaking as daredevilish and high-flying - their incredibly steep vineyards in Valtellina soar at elevations of 2,400 to 3,000 feet. Italy's largest terraced area of viticulture, Nino Negri's nearly vertical vineyards rule out the use of any mechanical equipment and once the grapes are harvested by hand, they are transported to the winery by helicopter. Where winemaking style combines the opulence of Amarone with the elegant complexity of Barolo”
