Orangerie Charlottenburg

Request Venue

The Charlottenburg Orangery is one of Berlin's most impressive historic venues. The Baroque structure, built between 1709 and 1712, was originally designed to house orange, lemon, and bitter orange trees during the winter and soon served as a stage for lavish court festivities in the summer. Today, the Orangery combines its light-filled architecture, high ceilings, and stucco details with an elegant sense of tranquility right next to the palace gardens.
