ORIENTAL COCKTAILS

The culinary world of Asia is diverse and exciting, boasting a wide array of flavoursome ingredients and cooking techniques. Many ingredients are shared across the entirety of Asia, but some have a special and unique link to an individual country.

In this menu, we visit five countries from across Asia and explore some of their best loved ingredients. Each of these flavours serve as inspiration for our cocktails, that are perfect for pairing with different types of Asian cuisine.

Signature Cocktail

Thailand:

KHANOM COLADA

Tsh 26,000

Johnnie Walker Red Label | Malibu | Coconut Milk | Pineapple | Thai Basil
Coconut is widely cultivated in Thailand and is a staple ingredient in many Thai, dishes, including popular curries and desserts. Thai basil gives a subtle aniseed note along with herbal freshness. The name, Khanom Highball derives from a Thai dessert named Khanom Chan which is made from coconut milk with herbs and spices.

Japan

EASTERN MEDICINE

Tsh 26,000

Sake | Triple Sec | Ginger | Pineapple | Pressed Lemon

In Japan, pickled ginger, called Gari, is frequently used as a palate cleanser between courses. This is particularly the case when eating sushi. Another uniquely Japanese ingredient enjoyed with sushi is sake, which pairs excellently with fiery ginger and citrus.

India

ROYAL FRUIT

Tsh 26,000

Beefeater Gin | Aperol | Mango | Passionfruit | Cardamon | Pressed Lemon

Mango is the national fruit of India is spiritually regarded by Hindus as the king of fruits and a symbol of happiness and prosperity. Cardamon is commonly used in Indian cooking, being blended into curries to give an exotic and flavour. Here, these two ingredients work in partnership to bring a rich and tropical flavour to a gin sour.

Indonesia

LUCKY LIQUOR

Tsh 26,000

Olmeca Blanco Tequila | Sauvignon Blanc | Lemongrass | Tanzanian Chilli | Pressed Lemon

The classic pairing of lemongrass and chilli is used in many Asian cultures and is favourite in Indonesia. Here we pair with Blanco tequila and crisp white wine to get a vibrant and warming freshness. Lemongrass incense is considered to bring good luck to those who use it.

Vietnam

MINT BASKET

Bacardi Carta Blanca | Cachaca 51 | Watermelon | Spearmint | Pressed Lemon

When it comes to Vietnamese foods, fresh mint is the most commonly used herb. Watermelon is among their most popular fruits, and the pairing of mint and watermelon is a firm favourite across both Vietnam, and the rest of the world.
